

HOME IMPROVEMENT

Bald eagle pairs return to, and add on to, the same nests year after year. Eventually these nests may weigh a ton or more. Even though they're one of the most famous species recovery success stories, bald eagles remain on Iowa's Endangered Species list. Iowa Department of Natural Resources officials seek better data on eagle nesting sites — now documented in 84 Iowa counties. If you spot a bald eagle nest at any time, but particularly from May through August, let the DNR know. — C.B.
